September-October 2017

Excerpts from: "Genealogy's Often-Misspelled Words"

From Dick Eastman's Blog—August 15, 2017

Here are a few words to memorize:

Genealogy – No, it is not spelled "geneology" nor is it spelled in the manner I often see: "geneaology." That last word looks to me as if someone thought, "Just throw all the letters in there and hope that something sticks." For some reason, many newspaper reporters and their editors do not know how to spell this word. Don't they have spell checkers?

Cemetery – The letter "a" does not appear anywhere in the word "cemetery." You can remember the spelling by an old saying, "We go to the cemetery with E's." (ease)

Ancestor – This simple word is often spelled "ancester," "ansester," or "ansestor."

Ancestry – This word is often misspelled "ancestory." I often see errors when someone is referring to the ancestry.com online web site as "ancestory.com."

History – More than once I have seen someone refer to their "family histroy" or "family histry."

Descent – Perhaps not as common, but I have seen this spelled as "decent," which sounds almost the same.

Descendant – it often appears as descendent, descentent and many others.

Grantor versus Grantee – In land records, the grantor is the one who sells or gives (grants) the land while the grantee is the one who receives.

Copyright – Then there is Copyright versus Copywrite. Just remember that it is always right to copy, not write to copy.

Progenitor – I can never remember how to spell this word. I simply try to avoid it when I am writing!

Two other words often are confused: immigrant and emigrant. Another variation is immigration versus emigration. According to Merriam-Webster Dictionary at <http://www.merriam-webster.com>, an emigrant is "a person who leaves a country or region to live in another one" while an immigrant is "a person who comes to a country to live there." To repeat, an emigrant leaves while an immigrant arrives.

The late Dick Pence was quite a storyteller, and once he told of an online genealogy article he wrote in which he poked fun at common spelling errors by genealogists. He deliberately misspelled ten different words in the article, including most of the words I listed above. In the text of the article, he never mentioned that the article was a tongue-in-cheek attempt at humor.

Dick soon received an email message from an irate lady who apparently didn't realize it was a deliberate attempt at humor. She scolded him for his spelling errors, writing, "Mr. Pence, you should be ashamed of yourself. I am an English teacher and I want to tell you that I found seven spelling errors in your article!"

President's Message

Dear Genealogy Friends,

It is Central Wisconsin State Fair time here in Marshfield. As always, there are trips to the fair grounds to do this or that. But as I walk from building to building, I see family members, neighbors and friends. I think about all the entries that my daughter has entered over the years and all the different entertainment that has been there for the grandstand shows. How many of you have written short stories around the activities, the sights, the sounds and yes, even the smells of the fair?

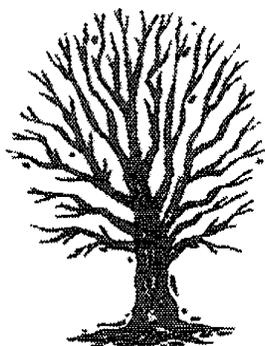

At our August meeting, our speaker, Ken Wood shared ideas on how to write your memoirs. I think fair time would be a great place to start. And why not do it in the next few weeks, while the memories are fresh in your mind. Think back to different years, even when you were a kid. Is it the same now as it was then? What kind of rides did they have? Who did you go with (family members, neighbor kids, friends from school)?

And let's not forget some of the other events in Marshfield that you could write about such as June Dairy Days, Hub City Days, Maple Fest, etc. Even if you didn't live in Marshfield, many of the surrounding towns had their own special events like the Granton Fall Festival, the Fourth of July Parade at Pittsville, Stratford Heritage Days, or the Loyal Corn Festival that you may have participated in or been a part of. So start writing!

Finally, don't forget about attending the upcoming Wisconsin State Genealogical Society's Fall Seminar on October 28th or the Pre-Conference Workshop on October 27th, with speaker Paula Stuart-Warren. Both events will be held at the Best Western Plus Eau Claire Conference Center in Eau Claire, WI. More details registration flyers/brochures or online registration can be found at: wsgs.org. Hope to see you there.

Best wishes always,

Vickie

Getting Youth Interested in Genealogy: Are They Really Different?

Amy Johnson Crow newsletter, 23 July 2017

I often hear genealogists lamenting that "young people aren't interested in genealogy" or musing about how to spark the interest in a child or grandchild.

There are all sorts of approaches to take: family reunions, trips to ancestral towns, talking about it on social media, etc. But I think it boils down to the basics of conversation.

Think about the advice that we've all heard about engaging someone in conversation: Start with something the other person is interested in. We can apply that to talking about our family history.

Honestly, there aren't many non-genealogists -- child or adult -- who are enthralled looking over ancestor charts and family group sheets. It's a rare non-genealogist who gets excited hearing about how you dissected a probate file from 1847 to figure out who Mary's parents were.

If adults who aren't into genealogy get bored listening to that, why do we sometimes think kids would enjoy it?

We need to meet kids where they are. Kids, especially school-age children, often relate things back to themselves. It's where they are in their development. How can you make something about a person who's been dead for 200 years relate back to them?

Amy Johnson Crow

Make More Discoveries

Talking about something that the child is interested in.

My friend Lisa Lisson at the Are You My Cousin? blog recently told about how her son is into baseball "in a big way." Telling him that one of his ancestors was a minor league ballplayer really sparked his interest. They dug out old photos from the era, looked for his stats in old newspapers, etc. She said her son really enjoyed it.

Kids really aren't that different than adults when it comes to getting them interested in family history. You have to meet them where they are.

Until next time,

Amy

The Best Newspaper Site for Your Genealogy

By Amy Johnson Crow

Posted on Amy Johnson Crow's Blog July 13, 2017

There are numerous newspaper sites that could be useful for your genealogy research. Many of them would gladly have you as a paid subscriber. But how do you know which one is worth spending your money on? Here's how to find the newspaper site that's best for you.

Note that I said "best for you." There is no single "best" newspaper site. The site that's best for me may not be the best for you. Here's why:

No newspaper website has all of the newspapers. There is some overlap between the sites, but their coverage does vary. Newspapers.com has different papers than NewspaperArchive which has different newspapers than GenealogyBank.

The best newspaper site for your genealogy is the one that has the newspapers that you need.

(If you don't know what newspapers existed for your ancestor's hometown, check out my post on how to identify those.)

Before You Pay for a Newspaper Website Subscription

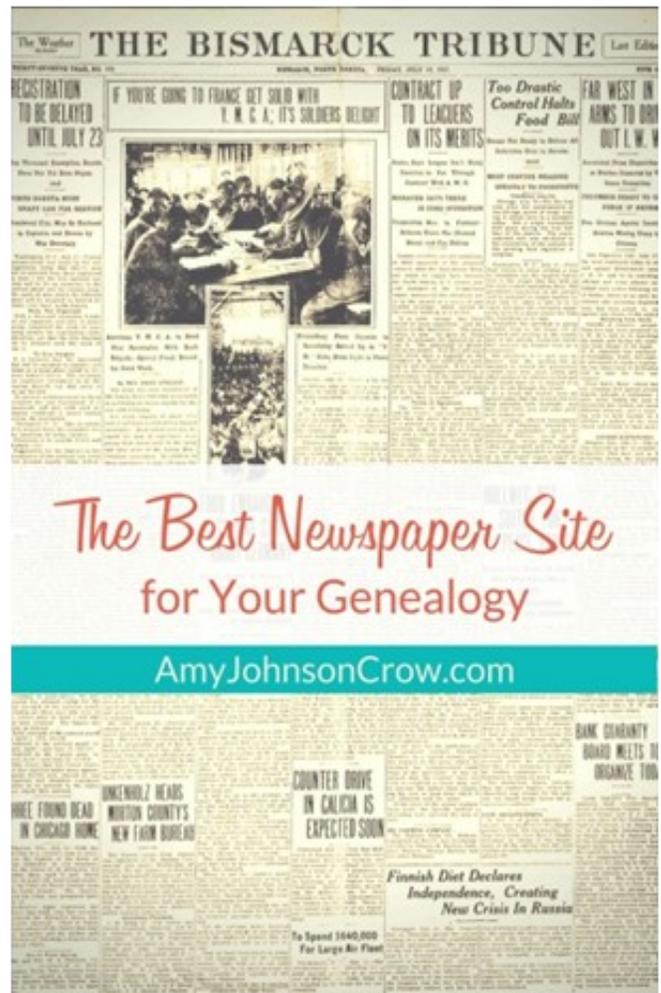

If you're thinking about subscribing to a newspaper site and you're interested in U.S. newspapers, check out Chronicling America at the Library of Congress. This free website has more than 12 million pages of digitized, full-text searchable U.S. newspapers. You might find what you need right there (and can leave your credit card in your wallet).

Check out Kenneth Marks' incredible list of available digitized newspapers. Some are free and some are part of a subscription site. The newspaper you need might be free on a library or university website.

If the newspaper you need isn't free somewhere, check with your local public library to see what subscriptions they have. You might have to use a particular subscription at the library (rather than connecting from home), but it can save you some money.

Check the Titles and Years Included

If Chronicling America or other free sites don't have what you're looking for and you're thinking about paying for a subscription somewhere, check what titles the site has and what years it includes. No sense paying for a subscription site if it doesn't have newspapers that will help you!

On Newspapers.com, click on the "Papers" tab near the top of the page. On the new page, you should see a map on the left-hand side of the page. Click on the state you're interested in and you'll get a list of all of the newspapers they have for that state.

NOTE: They may not have all of the newspapers for all of the years listed. Look at the number of pages that title includes. For example, they have the Cass County (Michigan) Republican from 1858-1880. However, there are only 1,248 pages. Even if it's a weekly paper, that isn't very many pages to cover 22 years; there are likely issues that are missing.

On GenealogyBank, scroll down the page to find the map of the U.S. Click on the state you're interested in and you'll get a list of the titles they have and the years they cover.

NOTE: On GenealogyBank, some titles are "Recent Obituaries," which means that it is not the full newspaper; it is only the obituaries. Also, note that any given title could have missing issues from the years listed. Unfortunately, GenealogyBank doesn't list the page count for a specific title, so it is difficult to see how complete their coverage is.

Genealogy Records You Can Find in Newspapers

Newspaper Archives 1690–2016

Newspapers are a cornerstone of family history research. Learning about your ancestors' daily experiences provides a unique window into their lives and can bring your family history to life.

List of Newspapers

Search U.S. Newspaper Titles by State

|-----------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Alabama | National |
| Alaska | Nebraska |
| Arizona | Nevada |
| Arkansas | New Hampshire |
| California | New Jersey |
| Colorado | New Mexico |
| Connecticut | New York |

NewspaperArchive is the most cumbersome to determine what titles are available. First, you need to scroll down to the very bottom of the page and click on the link to the state you want. Then you have to click on the city. They also do not indicate the page count for specific titles. However, when you are on a specific newspaper's page, you can use the calendar function under "Browse by Date" to see what is available. For example, even though they say they have the Granville (Ohio) Times from 1880-1987, I can use the year dropdown and see that they do not have any issues between 1955 and 1987.

Editor's Note: Newspapers.com has recently added many of the old Marshfield, WI newspapers. See page 12 of this newsletter for a listing of titles, dates and where to find them in Newspapers.com as they are a little tricky to find. And, also which ones are on NewspaperArchive.com.

European Maps & Genealogy

Family Tree Magazine's Best Continental Europe Genealogy Websites, 2015: This article lists nine of the top sites for anyone doing European research.

Links to dozens of European genealogy resources When you begin your European genealogy search, concentrate first on learning part of the country's history; it will inform you about your ancestors' lives.

The Family Tree Guidebook to Europe: Trace Your Genealogy in Europe \(\$\) This book has detailed chapters on each area of Europe, a complete overview of genealogy research strategies for each country/region, timelines of social, political and military events that may have impacted ancestors' lives, and detailed maps of each country/region. (I love this book)

FamilySearch's European Wiki: If I was just getting started in European genealogy (which I am!), this would be my first stop. Pick your country of interest and then read FamilySearch's guide on getting started with research in that country. You'll find maps, record types, country background, and local resources. A goldmine.

Europe Historical Maps at the Perry-Castañeda collection: This collection is one of the first historical map collections I found on the Internet. It's still a go-to resource for me. The 1490 map of Europe (above) is from this collection.

Family Tree Historical Maps Book: Europe: \(\$\) This one is jammed with maps and timelines. Created by my friend, publisher of Family Tree Magazine, Allison Dolan. Country-by-country atlas to put your ancestral origins in geographic context, unravel the European boundary changes that frequently trip up genealogists. (If you thought American county boundary lines were confusing, wait til you get to Europe!)

Maps of Europe from 1500 to 2000: Not a fancy site, but lots of good information.

Genetic History of Europe: With all the DNA talk, I thought this was a good choice.

Cyndi's List Western European Maps & Genealogy: Just because the site's been around for years, doesn't make it any less useful. Get over there and see what you can find ☐ WorldGenWeb: The European counterpart to US-GenWeb. Use the links in the left column to navigate to regional websites. Once you're on a regional website you can then navigate to countries. (Hint, most of Western Europe is in the Mediterranean regional site).

America's Love-Hate Relationship with Immigrants

From Dick Eastman's Blog—August 8, 2017

It does seem strange that a nation of immigrants has so often attempted to place restrictions on immigration. With today's rules around immigration in flux, Angelica Quintero has provided a look at the enormously varied ways the U.S. has determined who can become an American throughout history. Her article in the Los Angeles Times explains some of the problems your ancestors may have faced when attempting to immigrate to America.

Quintero writes: "In the 1800s, the Irish were a favorite target, and newspaper ads commonly included the phrase "No Irish need apply." Later in the 19th century, anti-immigration sentiment was codified in federal laws that singled out Asians. Later federal laws targeted Italians and Southern Europeans."

Irish, northern Europeans, southern Europeans, Hispanics, and Asians have suffered more than discrimination. In some cases, they were even murdered by mobs who resented their presence in the USA.

"The poor, the sick and those espousing certain political beliefs were barred from entry into the U.S. under other new laws. Laws discouraging immigration from Southern Europe — mainly from Italy — reflected widespread anti-Catholic sentiment. Italians were frequent targets of abuse and one of the most infamous mass lynchings in U.S. history occurred in New Orleans, where 11 Italians were attacked and killed by a mob in 1891."

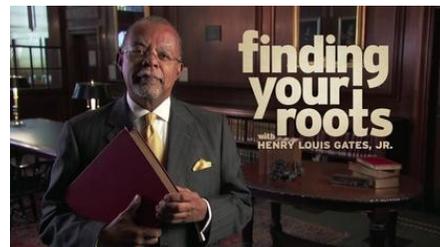

You can read a lot more about the history of immigration to the USA in the article by Angelica Quintero at: <http://www.latimes.com/projects/la-na-immigration-trends>.

New Season of PBS Genealogy Program, "Finding Your Roots" Starts October 3

From Dick Eastman's Blog—August 4, 2017

Genealogists in the United States will want to mark their calendars for October 3, 2017. That will be the date of the first episode of the new season of Finding Your Roots With Henry Gates, Jr.

The 10-part series traces the ancestry of influential people from a variety of backgrounds and careers. The program focuses on the melting pot of cultures that has shaped the history of the United States, especially focusing on the various ethnic groups that live within our country. Most episodes explore the ancestry of three guests.

Celebrities who will learn about their ancestors in this season's episodes include: Ana Navarro, US Senator Bernie Sanders, Larry David, Garrison Keillor, Mary Steenburgen, Scarlett Johansson, Ted Danson, Aziz Ansari, Bryant Gumbel, William H. Macy, and others.

One episode will even reveal that actor and comedian Larry David and Senator Bernie Sanders are related. Sanders and David share "identical DNA" of three chromosomes and "that's a lot of matches," according to Gates. That is rather unique because Larry David has impersonated Sanders on "Saturday Night Live."

Major corporate support for Finding Your Roots with Henry Gates, Jr. Season Three is provided by Ancestry.com, Johnson & Johnson, POM and Ford. Support is also provided by the Ford Foundation, Candace King Weir, the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, and PBS.

You can watch a video "trailer" of the new season of Finding Your Roots at <http://www.pbs.org/video/finding-your-roots-season-four-official-trailer-hdf5ii/>.

Rev. Schmidts Observe Golden Wedding Today

Dinner to be Served at Home of Daughter

The rev. and Mrs. Karl E. J. Schmidt, 203 W. Sixth street, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary tonight at a dinner for the immediate family at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Korth at Spencer.

Guests at the dinner will include their seven children and members of their families; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith, Albuquerque, N. Mex.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmidt and children, Tinley Park, Ill.; Mrs. Emil Naatz and son, of Milwaukee; Mrs. Immanuel Droegemueller, Newberry, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Engebrecht, Oconomowoc; Miss Edna Schmidt, W. Sixth street; and Mr. and Mrs. Korth, Spencer. Sixteen of the 18 grandchildren will also be at the celebration.

The Rev. Mr. Schmidt and Miss Hannah Marquardt, of the Town of Wien, Marathon County, were married on June 18, 1890, by the Rev. W. Brink of Athens.

A retired pastor of the Lutheran Church since May, 1937, the Rev. Schmidt was born in Sassenhagen, Stargardt, Pomerania, Germany, May 3 1864. He came to the United States in September, 1882, and was graduated from Springfield Theological Seminary in June, 1889.

The Rev. Mr. Schmidt's first charge was at Elma, Iowa, where he served from 1889 to 1895. From there he went to Stevens Point, spending 14 years there, 1895 to 1909. For another 14-year period, from 1923 to 1937, he served St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Pittsville.

Since his retirement, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt have made their home in Marshfield. The Rev. Mr. Schmidt still assists at services at the local Immanuel Lutheran Church, of which the Rev. G. M. Krueger is pastor, and at many of the Lutheran churches in the surrounding communities.

Horse Show Attracts 150 Here Wednesday

Seven stallions were displayed at the Wood County Horse Show held at the fairgrounds here yesterday afternoon. Measurements of the animas were taken by J. G. Fuller of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, who discussed the fine points of stallions and demonstrated several farm team hitches, including an equalizer tandem hitch for four-horse teams.

About 150 persons attended the show, which was stages by Woods County horse growers with the cooperation of County Agent H. R. Lathrope.

Breeders who exhibited were Jack Haessly, Marshfield, and Henry Yerke, Arpin, purebred Percherons; Jack Messerschmidt, Marshfield, grade Percheron; Victor Christensen, Marshfield, W. B. Rocheleau, Wisconsin Rapids, Art Guden, Arpin, and James Pelot, Milladore, purebred Belgians.

Marshfield Boy Stops Runaway; Horse Killed

Hartlan Gowey, operator of the William Wenzel farm south of the city, was badly bruised when thrown from a mower by a runaway team yesterday. One of the two horses involved in the mishap broke a leg and had to be killed. The horses were the property of the Wenzel farm.

Gowey had borrowed a mower at the Ed Laufenberg farm and was driving home when the horses became frightened on Highway 13 and ran, throwing him from the machine.

When the animals turned up the Below road, Kenneth Heinzen, 12-year-old son of Mrs. Elizabeth Heinzen, Below road, riding a bicycle in their path, was forced to leave the road to keep from being run over, but as the horses ran past him he seized the reins and stopped them. The animal with the broken leg had also been cut on one leg. The mower was badly damaged.

Ludolph Wolleson Honor Guest at Old Settlers' Picnic Sunday

Old Timers Gather at the Wildwood Park for Annual Event

The Old Settlers' Picnic at Wildwood Park Sunday was the occasion of at least one family reunion, at which the honor guest was Marshfield's oldest pioneer, Ludolph Wolleson, who observed his 93rd birthday anniversary last March.

Included in the group were his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Weybright, their daughter, Mrs. Ruth Hofmann, and her son, Frederic, all of Stevens Point; another son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Smith, St. Paul; and his two daughters, Mrs. O. H. Vaudell, Fond du Lac, and Mrs. Lubin Waggoner, who makes her home with her father on Highland avenue.

Mrs. H M Sanderson, Shawano, the former Della Renne, who was acclaimed at last year's picnic as the oldest Marshfield-born woman present, attend this year's meeting accompanied by Mr. Sanderson, and her record remained unchallenged. She was born Oct. 29, 1879, while her father, the late E. S. Renne, was postmaster here. Second honors yesterday, as far as could be determined, were held by Mrs. John Seubert, W. Arnold street, the former Mary Brochmann, who was born here Dec. 31, 1879.

Mrs. H. F. Thiel, W. Fifth street, the former Annie Cattanach, was born April 24, 1871, in the Town of Lincoln, and was apparently the pioneer of the native daughters and sons of the Marshfield vicinity at the picnic. Mr. Thiel became Wood County's first cheesemaker when he opened a factory in Nasonville in 1885. Others in the Thiel party Sunday were their son and daughter-in-law, Dr and Mrs. W. A. Thiel and daughter, Marilyn, of Dayton, Ohio, who are vacationing here.

At least two former Marshfield mayors were at the picnic- H. C. Eiche and Adolphe Pankow. Mr. Pankow, who served from 1903 to 1905, returned last year to make his home in Marshfield after a absence of 20 years. He arrived here Saturday night after a visit of two months in Dodge County, Michigan and Illinois. He first came to Marshfield in 1883 and was co-editor of a German weekly paper, the Demokrat, at the time of the fire. Mr. Eiche was mayor here from 1894 to 1895.

Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Schmidt and son, Robert, Green Bay, were among the out-of-town visitors at the picnic. Mrs. Schmidt was formerly Miss Mayme Maloney, and both she and the doctor spent their childhood in Marshfield. They were guests of his nephew, E. A. Kasched and family, and left Sunday for Wausau.

Karl "Curly" Mess, Phillips, who has been a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital here for the past few weeks, paid a brief visit at the picnic with Mrs. Mess, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Taylor, Spencer, and Mrs. Mess' mother, Mrs. Mary Eckhoff, also of Phillips. Mr. Mess accompanied Mrs. Mess and Mrs. Eckhoff home Sunday night.

Cannery Reports Decreased Yield

Hail Damages Several Hundred Acres of 1940 Pea Crop in County

A decreased pea yield per acre for the 1940 crop was reported today by Manager R. P. Binzel of the Marshfield Canning Co. where packing of the 1940 yield has been completed.

Although the yield was of good quality, it was not as large as previous years, Manager Binzel said. The yield was smaller for the late varieties and larger for the early varieties.

The 1940 yield was cut down considerably by hail which damaged several hundred acres, he said. Pea lie also damaged some of the early and late varieties.

Sizes of the pack this year this year are eight ounce, 11 ounce and 20 ounce in both the early and late varieties.

About 250 persons including 70 women were employed at the plant at an estimated weekly payroll of $5,000, Manager Binzel said.

Length of the canning period was from July 6 to 26.

A total of 60,000 cases of peas were packed last year

Marshfield, Wisconsin Newspapers Now Available on Newspapers.com and NewspaperArchive.com

When searching for Marshfield, WI newspapers at Newspapers.com,, go to <https://www.newspapers.com/browse/US/Wisconsin/Marshfield> for a listing of the three Marshfield, WI listings. You will find listings for:

- The Marshfield News and Wisconsin Hub (a total of 14,728 pages)
- Marshfield News Herald (a total of 537,162 pages)
- The Marshfield Times (4 pages only)

This is where the titles start getting a little tricky as there are multiple titles that run under the above titles. Starting with The Marshfield News and Wisconsin Hub, as you go through the dates listed, the titles will change:

- Marshfield News, September 12, 1889- June 11, 1891
- The Marshfield News, June 18, 1891- February 24, 1921
- Marshfield News and The Wisconsin Hub, March 3, 1921-August 18, 1921

Next under the Marshfield News Herald, you will find:

- Marshfield Daily News, March 7, 1921- August 5, 1927
- Marshfield News Herald, August 8, 1927- April 30, 2007
- The Post-Crescent Central Wisconsin Sunday, April 11, 1999- April 29, 2007 (Published on Sundays only.)
- Marshfield News Herald, October 3, 2012- current. (Note that there is a gap of the Marshfield News Herald, after April 30, 2007 to October 3, 2012.)

Finally under the listing of The Marshfield Times, there are only 4 pages for the September 25, 1891 paper.

Additional Marshfield Newspapers can be found at NewspaperArchive, free through BadgerLink by signing in with your Wisconsin library card at <https://access.newspaperarchive.com/us/wisconsin/marshfield>
